

Let Us Know . . .

We need your help!

So far this semester, the Gateway has been plugging—through editorial and news columns—campaigns for the benefit of the students. But we can't accomplish anything without your help.

We take partial credit for getting the student body into one cheering section at football games. But it was the background planning which made the idea work. Nods and comments of "you're sure right" greeted the Gateway's efforts.

It takes more of your effort than that! How can you expect the University to buy lights for the stadium if the Regents don't know how you feel? The Gateway has tried and tried to arouse your enthusiasm—but it looks hopeless!

If you work on Saturday afternoons, but could come to night games, take the five minutes it requires and write to the editor. Or get together with some of your friends and collaborate on a letter.

But, the important thing is to make your opinions known. Whether you want lights or not, let somehow know about it. Don't sit numbly and comment sagely to your bosom buddy "That's right!"

If you don't speak your mind, the Regents will be bound to vote against lights.

It's up to you.

Family Life Institute Opens 10th Meeting

The Tenth Annual Family Life Institute, sponsored by the College of Adult Education of Omaha University, the Omaha Council of Parent-Teachers Associations and the Adult Home-making Department of the Omaha Public Schools, is in session today and tomorrow.

"Youth of Today—Adults of Tomorrow" has been designated as the theme of the two-day Institute. Parent-Teacher organizations and students of Education, Sociology, and other related studies will attend the sessions. There is a $1 registration fee for individual enrollments.

Meet Here Tonight

Daytime sessions will be held at Brandeis Store, and tonight's session will be held in the University auditorium. The Institute is conducted each year for the purpose of bringing to Omaha and its surrounding territory expert leadership in child and family guidance.

Tonight's session will open with a dinner in the faculty clubroom at 6 p. m. for faculty members and special guests. The main program will be held in the auditorium at 8 p. m. The address will be given by Dr. Robert G. Foster, marriage counselor at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kansas. He will speak on "Marshaling Community Forces in the Interest of Family Life."

Hold Panel Discussion

Following the main address will be a general discussion panel conducted by Dr. Frank Gorman, Dean of the College of Education. Panel members will be Mrs. Joe Carlson, Howard Kennedy III, Richard Fellman, Central High School, and Charlene Cameron, Technical High School.

E. M. Hosman, Dean of the College of Adult Education, will preside over the evening session. Dr. Milo Bail, University President will greet the members.

Bring Education Leaders

The Institute is bringing several nationally known persons in the education field to Omaha. They include Dr. Foster, Dr. Janet Palmer, Acting Director of the Division of Mental Health in the State Health Department at Lincoln, and Dr. Donald Brieland, president of the Minnesota Family Life Association and a member of the Parent Education Department of the Institute of Child Welfare at the University of Minnesota.

Author-Lecturer To Address Affairs Institute Tomorrow

"Russia and the West" will be discussed tomorrow night at the fourth World Affairs lecture. Henry C. Wolfe, writer, war correspondent and lecturer will speak at 8:15 in the University auditorium.

Long interested and active in world events Wolfe saw service on French and Italian war fronts during World War I. After that war, he was a member of the Hoover Commission in Soviet Russia.

In the years between the first and second war, Wolfe spent part of each year in Europe and Asia, studying German and Russian expansion programs.

In the months preceding the German conflict, he predicted the signing of the Nazi-Soviet pact. Other predictions were the war to be started by Hitler and the Japanese attack on the United States.

Since the war, Wolfe has revisited Europe. He has been barred from Russia and her satellites because of his account of Red plans

Dr. Clark Selects Committees For Backstage Work on Play

Committees for the fall production of "Goodbye, My Fancy" have been completed by Play Director Edwin L. Clark. The committees were set up at a meeting of the University Players last week.

Eleven Additional AF-ROTC Cadets Earn Promotions

Eleven AF-ROTC cadets have passed the written and practical examinations and have been promoted to cadet second lieutenant. The tests were given by the ROTC Administrative Group under Cadet Capt. Robert Biegel.

Those passing the tests are Lawrence Albert, Angelo Amato, Richard Bauer, Glen Danielson, Ronald Garro and Harry Golding. Other new lieutenants are Claus Heyden, John Kennedy, David Meyer, Donald Nelson and Philip Springer.

In addition to these Air Science III students, 24 others have passed the written tests, and will take practicals next week. The balance of the AS III cadets are already cadet second lieutenants.

Cadet Capt. Biegel also said that examinations for cadet corporal were given yesterday. He added that he hoped more cadets would pass than had done it previously.

Stage manager for the play is Ray Hovendick. Student director Richard Smith.

The stage crew is headed by Lyle Nicklen. Members of his committee include Bob Chedester, Jack Dodds, Elaine Jones, Hovendick, Pat Smith and Jack Frost.

Frost Manages Set

Frost will manage construction of the set. Aiding him are Jack Dunlevy, Jim Erixon, Marilyn Sibert and Anita Reznichuk.

Erixon and Nancy Land are working on sound. Lights will be handled by John Martin and Pat Baker. The props committee includes Jane Engelhardt, Sheila Schwid, Miss Sibert, Miss Jones, Ruth Waschinek and Beth Vauck.

Three Do Costumes

Those in charge of costumes are Gloria Oldero, Miss Waschinek and Carol Roberts. Miss Waschinek will also do make-up for the production.

Box office work will be handled by the Misses Jones, Vauck, Roberts and Waschinek.

The play, sponsored by the Players, will run Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8. Committees will begin work immediately.

Dr. Clark reported that cast rehearsals are well underway. The cast meets every weekday night for rehearsal.

OU To Honor Dads Saturday

The annual Dads' Day celebration, scheduled for next Saturday, will include demonstrations by five University organizations.

Knox College of Illinois will make its first appearance on the University stadium grounds for the afternoon football game.

Incomplete plans for the day include performances by the OU band, Orthesis, women's dance group, and the student card section under the direction of Maynard Tatelman.

Sharing honors with University Dads will be the Air Force ROTC unit. The Angels Flight, women's auxiliary of the unit, the Arnold Air Society and the massed unit will participate in half-time ceremonies.

Student Political Organizations Will Meet Thursday Afternoon To Discuss Activities

The University of Omaha's first political clubs, the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans are planning organizational meetings Thursday afternoon.

The Young Republicans, sponsored by William Utley, are scheduled to meet from 1 to 2 p. m. in room 207. Gordon Anderson is temporary chairman of the group.

APO Will Sponsor Chest Fund Drive

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, will sponsor the annual Campus Chest Drive this year. The drive will begin Monday and continue through next week.

Plans for the drive include a rally, an "Ugliest Man" contest, and a voting booth to collect money for the Chest. APO members Charlie Platt and Jack Frost are in charge of the drive.

The meeting will include a talk by a member of the Nebraska Young Republicans group.

The Young Democrats meeting will be in room 207 from 3:30 to 4 p. m. Paul Beck, as a member of the government department, is serving the organization in an advisory capacity.

Campus Democrat leaders will meet with the students and brief them on the purpose of the organization.

Anyone interested may attend both meetings. The membership is not confined to members of the political science classes.

This is the first time political organizations have been allowed on the University campus. Candidates for any political office still are not permitted to make political speeches on campus.

Tomahawk Seeks Organization Copy

Organizations have until Nov. 7 to turn in pictures and copy to the Tomahawk.

News editor Jim Townsend sent a letter to all organization heads last week informing them of the deadline. The letter also states that the material will be handled as it was last year unless the groups ask for a change.

The Tomahawk is also requesting informal shots of group activities.

News editor Townsend feels that announcing the deadline this early will give the staff ample time to make-up the organization section.

Girls Rifle Team Aim For Booneville Match

The girls' rifle team hopes to enter the senior women's national matches at Booneville, Mo., next spring, according to Marjorie Baumann, rifle team sponsor.

Preparing for this, the eight team members will fire against teams in the Omaha high schools and in the state meet at Grand Island.

Returning to the club are 12 marksmen. Last year the O.U. team defeated Benson High's rifle team but bowed to North High and individual competitors in the state matches.

Aspiring members to the team are firing on the range today for the first time after two classes of fundamental marksman skills. The last class will be held next Friday.

'The Informer' First Of Five Feature Films

Full length feature films will again provide afternoon entertainment for OU students this year. Starting Oct. 31, the first in a series of five films will be presented by the English Department and Student Convocation Committee.

"The Informer," the first film, will be shown Friday, Oct. 31, at 1 and 3 p. m. Two showings will be run because of conflicts with afternoon classes. The movies will be shown at monthly intervals.

University Players Elect Dick Smith

New officers of the University Players were elected Friday.

The officers are Richard L. Smith, president; Leonore Marx, vice-president; Anita Reznichuk, secretary; Philip Abramson, treasurer, and Jim Erixon, historian.

Committees were also organized for the first production of the year, "Goodbye My Fancy."

Filbert Figby Earns $500 Award for Notable Service

You are Filbert Figby, boy lieutenant.... the star reporter of your Air Base newspaper.

The editor-in-chief, Colonel Charles S. Gruffy, assigns you what may be... YOUR BIG STORY.

Yes, here is the Air Force... its sound and its fury, its joys and its sorrows as reported by the men and women of the great American base newspapers.

Your story is by no means simple. A vital part to an Air Force war machine is missing and you, Filbert Figby, have to search through all base supply volumes and find the story of the "missing" bearing.

"We're scared, Filbert. It's not that you've never been out on a story before, it's merely those horror stories your AF-ROTC instructor used to tell you to make you eat your oatmeal at cafeteria breakfast.

Rueful Going: But you have a journalistic heritage, Filbert, and you won't let the Colonel down.... Before you can write the story of the missing, ball bearing, you must first get facts.... facts....

Your first source of news is the Base Accountable Supply Officer. Hean tell you how to track down that elusive steel spheroid.

For three days and three nights you have been looking for that "O. & B." ($5. ($3.4). Base Accountable Supply Officer. You're dead, tired, after tramping to 476 supply depots... no one remembers any one going by the title of Base Accountable Supply Officer.... The entire supply squadron was transferred out the week before. At long last you find a grizzled, wizened, old master sergeant who had been on the base longer than two weeks. He speaks first: "Look, little shave tail, haven't you heard? There is no such thing as a Base Accountable Supply Sergeant anymore. Regulation 37688764-87 changed it to Base Supply Officer."

Bad News: That news was a bitter blow. Filbert, but at least you're on the right track now.

The Base Supply Officer is a snappy character who goes exactly by the book. He has a gross of assorted ball bearings in his warehouse that he could easily let you rummage through.

Will he give his consent? Not until you, Filbert Figby, fill out a form 47-8... a 16-page handbook that requires a few hours of your time.

Job Done: The form is completed and with a gleaming look on your drooping brow you shove the paper under the Base Supply Officer's nose. "Now all you need is to get the master depot's approval," the supply officer sneered.

Yes, dear readers, somewhere hidden in the one of myriad of supply depots on a far-flung United States Air Force Base a reporter is wandering. Little does this dauntless newsman realize that there is no longer Master Supply Depots in existence.

Foiled Again

Despite the fact that our reporter was foiled by regulation 85746857-98, we have still seen fit to reward him for his feat.

Filbert Figby, where ever you may be, we are proud to present you with the 500 yem Hells Bells award for notable service in the field of journalism.

Donny Drain's Column Receives Pitiful Story

Dear Donny Drain:

There I was, without a date on Friday night! Not that this is unusual, it happens (sob, sob), all the time.

It isn't that I didn't try. For instance last Monday night I called several girls for a night of dancing.

All of them had legitimate excuses like, "I'm expecting my aunt from Madagascar" or "I have to stay home and read Mickey Spillane books to my grandmother."

I even ran into one who came up with this answer:

"Do you have a date, Friday?" I politely asked.

"No," she said.

"How about going out with me then?" I expectantly offered.

"No," was the firm reply.

Mother told me there would be days like this but not so many in a row.

I admit dancing isn't made any easier with a club foot, but let's be kind to animals.

They say women like athletes. Then why don't they maul me?

After all, I participate in three major sports. I play first string on the yo-yo team and I'm second pencil on the state championship tie-tac-the squad. But my main accomplishment was being chosen to the 1951 Stoop Tag all-star team.

Lead me to the bridge, brethren, I want to take a swim.

Letters to the Editor... Stevenson Eisenhower

Early on the morning of July 26 in Chicago, a man, relatively unknown in national politics, stepped forward to accept the Democratic nomination for President of the United States.

His voice, heard by many of us for the first time, was something new on the political scene. Adlai Stevenson set the keynote of the Democratic campaign that night when he said: "Let's talk sense to the American people."

As the campaign has progressed, we can now see the full significance of his words. In words that every voter can understand, Stevenson has stated his views on every issue of the campaign. He has always appealed to the reason and never to the emotions of his listeners.

His record as a public servant as well as a private citizen is beyond reproach. In 1948, Adlai Stevenson ran for governor of Illinois, and won the election by the largest majority in the history of the state. He carried the state by more than 572,000 votes.

As governor, he proceeded with confidence to clean up the mess of a former Republican regime. While in office, he dropped 1,300 useless job holders from the state payroll. In doing this, he cut state expenditures, but was still able to increase aid to public schools and to improve the Illinois roads.

In these times of inflation, he was able to lower the state budget! If given the chance to lower the national budget, Stevenson has shown that he has the will and the ability to do it.

As is a totally new kind of political figure, Adlai Stevenson promises nothing he does not believe, in good conscience, he can deliver. However, he does make one promise—a Democratic victory in November.

Roger Dunbar.

Probably no other American in our times has been as widely acclaimed for his administrative ability than has Dwight Eisenhower. He has devoted his life to duty and to the protection of American liberties.

Eisenhower is strong in his belief that if government deficit spending is not decreased, American citizenship in the future will be a mortgaged existence.

The Republican candidate for the Presidency of the United States holds the farmer as a foundation stone of Democracy. His interest in the farmer has been shown through his endorsement of supports for farm products.

As an administrator, Eisenhower will gather around him men of ability and integrity. He energetically resists graft, corruption and inefficiency, as his record shows. Never has he been connected with Communist activities. He condemns the world-wide Communist conspiracy as the worst threat to our free system of living.

How does Dwight Eisenhower stand on the war question? He hates war as only a soldier who has seen its brutality and futility can. War settles nothing, and is the least acceptable solution for the world's problems.

As Eisenhower sees it, there are three roads of progress to universal and enduring peace: organized international cooperation, mutual international understanding and progressive international disarmament.

In his own words: "The best foreign policy is to live our lives in honesty, decency and integrity. At home make our own land a more fitting habitation for free men. And, abroad, joining with those of like mind and heart, to make the world a place where all men can dwell in peace."

Fabulous 'Pitching Machine' Pummels Baseball's Addicts

By Lee Nelson

Remember the article that appeared in The Gateway concerning strange jobs held by Omaha University students during the summer? Here is one that we omitted, but deserves certainly some attention.

In your travels over the summer months it is quite probable that you visited Campbell's Golf Range. But did you notice the "Batters Up" game on your extreme right as you entered the place?

An OU student was the proprietor of the attraction that offered laughs at a dime a dozen. Exciting Venture:

First, a few words describing the venture. A plot of land, approximately 45x30, was enclosed by wire with used, camouflage netting as the overhead.

A canvas was draped from the netting at the pitching end with the machine, located behind the canvas.

Baseballs were made of rubber and projected through a hole in the canvas to the batter standing 45 feet away.

The downfall of many contestants was the fact that the machine was automatic and pitched balls at regular intervals.

For instance, many would cut at the first pitch and then turn around to their friends, allying for the air currents, only to be smacked in the head by the next pitch.

Machine Gun

One sultry night, a flashy sort dressed in a loose fitting sport shirt, walked up to the pay stand, deposited his quarter and stepped into the batter's box.

As the balls were ejected from the machine, one cut the inside corner a little too close and shot down his sleeve.

Violently struggling to find the ball, he was nearly mauled by the following pitches.

In the beginning days of the machine, breakdowns were numerous and various. Take the case of the gentleman who was the victim of one such disorder.

As the machine let go for the first ball, the latch broke, unknown to the batter.

Balls began pouring out of the contraption straight at the helpless batter who was swinging the bat in self defense.

After 15 balls rained on the unfortunate lad, he trudged to the pay stand and demanded a refund. Old Pro:

Of course there was the fellow who played professional baseball... 30 years ago.

This man walked into the batter's box, boasting to all within hearing distance on the merits of his diamond career.

With the initial pitch, he swung

Crane Buys TV Set, Watches 'Rassling'

Roderic B. Crane, distinguished Omaha University professor of economics, has succumbed to television.

For years the monetary mentor adopted a holier-than-thou attitude about the world of klieg lights and flickering screens and chided his students for ever going near a television set.

He scoffed at the ancient movies being pulled out of their faded celluloid graves to be reincarnated over TV.

Last summer, however, the impertinent prof hid behind an honorable interest in politics and broke down to buy a TV set, "just to watch the political conventions."

Now, however, the truth is out. It is even more startling than Chesterfield naming its ingredients.

The Crane family's Wall Street Journal lies on the professor's desk untouched.... Where is our econ. expert spending his time? In front of his television set watching of all things... rassling!

Football Road Jinx Still Plagues Indians

Emporia Snares 7-6 Victory To Give Omaha Third Loss

Omaha University's football road jinx continued to three straight Saturday night, as the Indian gridmen lost a 7-6 verdict at Emporia (Kans.) State Teachers.

That gives the Indians a two won, three lost record for the season, with all three losses being suffered on the road.

Sideline observers agreed that it was the poorest showing of the Omaha team this year. The offense sputtered and all but died during the contest as Indian backs managed only 39 yards rushing.

The only thing that kept the offense alive was the potent aerial attack offered by Quarterback Jerry Welling, and Bob Rose, who were the main threats to Emporia defenders. Welling and his mates accounted for 178 yards via the air lanes.

Emporia Scores First

Emporia grabbed a touchdown early in the initial period, scored the conversion and hung on with a tight defensive battle for the rest of the game.

After Omaha received the opening kick-off and was obliged to punt, Emporia, on their third play from scrimmage, scored on a pass play that carried 45 yards to the end zone.

Quarterback Jerry Garris pitched to End Bob Jaquith who took the ball on the Omaha 15 and ached the rest of the distance to score. Without knowing its future importance, Bob Scherrer salmly booted the placement to give Emporia their winning point.

Bobble Proves Costly

Omaha came to life in the second period with an eighty yard march to the host team's five yard line. It looked like the threat had fizzled when the Indians lost the ball on downs at that point.

But, Emporia bobble a few plays later and the alert Omaha defense, which was the brightest part of the Indian play all evening, recovered on the Emporia 5.

With only 15 seconds remaining in the half, Welling executed a perfect fake and bootlegged the ball around left end for the score. The conversion attempt by Aksel Schmidt was wide.

Omaha's alert defensive line thwarted another Emporia scoring threat with a last-ditch goal line stand.

It came shortly after the second half, with Emporia taking the kick-off and marching to the Indian one foot mark. But the Omaha defenders threw the opposition for a four yard loss on the next play and finally took over on downs three plays later.

Welling Kicks 65 Yards

On the next play of the game Welling pulled the Omaha eleven out of danger with a 65 yard quick kick.

Although slated for little duty because of an attack of the flu, Keith Christie proved to be the bright spot in the otherwise tarnished Omaha ground attack.

In the line Jim Spencer, Ernie Lee, Larry Johnson and Ends Tom Bell and Don Maseman sparked the defense.

Warrior Group Plans Mass Rally Before Homecoming Game

A newly organized band of Warriors met in the Student Center Thursday evening and made plans for future athletic contests.

Main business on the calendar was the planning of a huge rally to be held on Friday, Nov. 14, preceding the Homecoming dance. A bonfire will be built behind the Fieldhouse and the Warriors, Feathers and Cheerleaders will lead the students in a snake dance.

Present plans call for the costuming of several Warriors in Indian outfits. These "braves" will lead the dance.

The rally is tentatively slated to begin about 6:15 Friday evening, in order to allow time for students to get ready for the dance that night.

Tom Meyer and Harold Sage are in charge of planning for the Homecoming festivities.

The next Warriors meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 27, at 6:15 in the Student Center. Prospective new members are urged to attend. At present the pep organization has a membership of almost seventy male students.

Two Unbeaten Intramural Teams Pace Grid League

By Frank Schuchart

After two weeks of play in the intramural football league, two teams remain undefeated and are currently pacing the grid loop.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha have both scored easy wins in their first two outings. Sig Ep scored victories over ISA, 20-0, and Theta Chi, 20-0. The Pi Kaps stopped Theta Chi, 3-0, and AF-ROTC, 27-6.

At present the Sig Eps and Pi Kaps appear to be the teams to beat during the seven weeks 'mural chase. All but one of the squads has played at least one game. That team, the Blackhawks, entered the competition late and has two games it must make up.

The Blackhawks were scheduled against ISA Tuesday, but a mix-up in times caused a postponement. Friday, Phi Epsilon Pi players forfeited to Lambda Chi Alpha, giving that team one win in two starts.

Four Teams Win

Of the seven teams that have seen competition, only four have scored victories. AF-ROTC and Lambda Chi are the only victors besides double winners Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

However, the win column does not appear to give an accurate picture of how the league will run.

Even though they have lost both times out, Theta Chi appears to have a strong eleven. They were unfortunate in meeting the leading Pi Kaps and Sig Eps in those first two encounters.

Yesterday Theta Chi was due to meet AF-ROTC in this week's intramural curtain raiser. Even though the Air Force squad has shown vast improvement over last season, Theta Chi should have had their first look at the win column in that contest.

Today student fans will get their first look at the Blackhawks when the unaffiliated team challenges Sig Ep at 3. This contest looks as the "big game" this week with the winner looming as the most likely prospect for championship laurels.

Blackhawk Strength Uncertain

Little is certain about the Blackhawks strength. Actually the Sig Eps, with two wins under their belts, will have a decided advantage. But, the Blackhawks have always fielded top-notch teams.

In other contests this week Pi Kappa Alpha meets Phi Epsilon Pi, tomorrow, and ISA tangles with Lambda Chi Alpha, Friday.

The Pi Kaps should have little trouble disposing of Phi Ep, in a game that may turn into a rout. Lambda Chi and the Independents should offer a fairly even contest, with ISA looking like the best bet for victory.

If Sig Ep scores a win over Blackhawks this afternoon, the league title is virtually certain to depend on the outcome of the Nov. 7, clash between Pi Kappa Alpha and Sig Ep.

This looms as one of the hardest fought battles of the year. Pi Kap won the title last year, with the championship game being played the afternoon before Thanksgiving. Again it was the Sig Eps who offered the opposition in the title contest.

Too Early to Predict

It is too early to predict the outcome of the Nov. 7 clash, but, by comparative scores of games played to date, Sig Ep would have to get the nod.

Girls Begin Volleyball

Team lists, which will reveal players to participate in the volleyball tournament sponsored by Omaha University Women's Intramurals organization, were posted Saturday in the women's physical education hut.

Volleyball season will open this afternoon in the west quonset. Team captains will be the sports representatives from the various organizations.

In the tennis tournament, Ruth Longville has entered the quarter-finals.

ATTENTION—MOVIES TODAY!

Movies of Omaha University's losing efforts against Emporia (Kans.) State Teachers will be shown today at 12 o'clock noon in the auditorium.

Today's showing will be the third time movies of the 1952 Indian gridmen in action have been offered free of charge to interested students, faculty and staff members. Coach Ernie Gorr will be on hand to narrate the films.

Greeks Pick 'Sweater Girl'

Donna Reynolds was elected the 1952 Theta Chi Sweater Girl Friday evening at the first all-Greek dance of the season.

During the intermission ceremonies the candidates, Joyce Johnson, Alpha Xi Delta; Miss Reynolds, Chi Omega; Barbara Pugh, Sigma Kappa, and Jane Johnson, Zeta Tau Alpha, were presented.

The girls were presented to the audience by bursting through large cardboard and paper sweaters which were decorated in that organization's colors. Jack Fraenkel master of ceremonies for the evening, presented last year's Sweater Girl Jody Gross, who in turn announced the winner for this year.

The candidates were given bracelets by the Theta Chi fraternity and the winner received a red garter of Theta Chi.

The candidates were introduced as the Theta Chi choir sang "Dea: Little Girl of Theta Chi."

Approximately 500 persons attended the dance. Greeks danced to the music of Eddy Haddad and his orchestra from 9 to midnight.

Special guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beck, Mr. and Mrs. George Pritchard, Major and Mrs. Robert Whaley and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hampton.

Thirty-four Men Pledge APO Thursday Evening

Alpha Xi Pledges Skip Wednesday

By Jerry Kelley

Alpha Xi pledges skipped last Wednesday from the active meeting. The actives spent the evening in chase, tracking down the clues left behind by the pledges in their flight.

First clue took the actives to Crestwood drugs where they sang for an aspirin box containing their next lead. From there they went to the 11-Worth Grill to spend 15 minutes of KP duty for the manager, who loved every minute of it. The airport was invaded next, while waiting for the next clue the invisible pledges gave the command to perform the can-can. For this they were given a puzzle which took them to Mount Vernon Gardens. The clue found there stumped them for the rest of the evening until 11 p. m. when the screaming voices of the happy pledges informed them that they had hidden in the City Hall.

The pledges had spent a comfortable evening in one of the meeting rooms, eating pizza, playing cards, and believe it or not some even studied.

In compensation to the actives, who had chased all over town looking for them, the pledges had a warm fire going and ample food for all in the main lodge at Camp Brewster.

Thirty-four men were pledged into Alpha Pi Omega, men's service organization, Thursday evening at Dundee Presbyterian church.

Plans were also made for the APO sponsorship of the annual Ugly Man Contest to be held in conjunction with the Campus Chest Monday, Oct. 27.

The new pledges are Gene Anderson, Bill Brix, Luis Burianek, Bob Chedester, Dale Cockerill, Patrick Courior, Rodney Conser, Charles Dresher, Bob Driscoll, Dick Fuck, Chuck French, Garland Griffith, Warren Hopson, John Hetherington, Richard Johnson, and Tom Johnson.

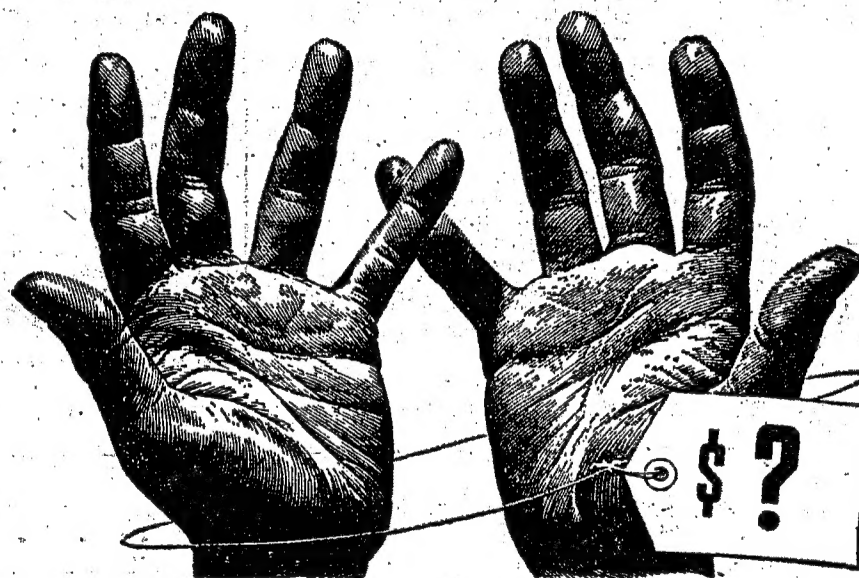

Others are Bob Lynch, David Langervin, Dean Mill, Bob Mullins, Gerald McDonald, Jerry McDonald, Bob O'Neill, Stan Plotkin, Ronald Peterson, Bob Peck, Melvin Rouser, Dick Rectchler, Don Rader, Roger Stiles, Ted Romberg, Tom Romberg, Earl True, and Jerry Welling.

The next meeting of APO will be held at Elmwood Park Pavilion from 7:30 to 8:30 on Monday, Oct. 27.

Student Democrats Will Meet Thursday

The Student Democratic Organization will have a meeting Thursday from 3:30 to 4:30 in room 207.

Sponsor of the club is Paul Beck.

THESE HANDS ARE PRICELESS!

They protect the American way of life . . . our homes, our freedoms, our future.

These Hands, sensitively trained to respond acutely to the commands of an alert mind and courageous heart, are the hands of a United States Air Force Pilot.

The skillful touch of these hands attunes the blasting speed of modern jet aircraft to effective missions in discouraging any enemy. These hands are supremely capable of flying and fighting these machines with devastating effect.

These Hands belong to young, spirited American men (not supermen) who desire to live unmolested in a free America . . . who want to enjoy the same rights and opportunities open to all real American people.

These Hands belong to our sons—yours and mine. Youths who must decide today how they can share in defense of our nation and also better themselves. To insure greater chances of their success, today's college men should be encouraged to complete their education and then serve their country best by enlisting as Aviation Cadets in the U. S. Air Force.

There is the choice of becoming either a Pilot or Aircraft Observer. After graduation as Second Lieutenants in the U. S. Air Force, they wear the silver wings of flying executives and begin earning nearly $5300 a year.

These Hands represent a man ready to qualify for this tremendous task because he is between the ages of 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in excellent physical condition, especially eyes, ears, heart and teeth. He possesses at least two years of college and the inherent urge to fly.

These Hands shape the destiny of America . . . the difference between our survival and oblivion. The U. S. Air Force needs the hands, the minds and the hearts of young Americans who desire to make the American way a greater way of peace and happiness for all.
